Brosko grew up in Beverly Hills. He stands 5-11 and weighs in at 180. After attending Eastern Michigan University and the University of Dayton, Brosko joined the Marines from January 2006-11. He currently resides in Detroit and works as a consultant for Creative Breakthrough, Inc. in Troy.

Makupson is originally from Southfield. He is listed as 5-9 and weighs in at a lighter 175 lbs. He studied Psychology/Political Science at Morehouse College before transferring and finishing his degree at the University of Michigan. In 2009, he graduated from law school at Wayne State University and currently is employed as a criminal attorney at Makupson and Associates, PLC. Rudy currently resides in Troy and is also the son of former WKBD news anchor, Amyre Makupson.

There is much more included in this unique entertainment package. The U of M Boxing Club will be squaring off against boxers from Ohio State, Kentucky and other universities from across the country. The Master of Ceremonies once again will be former Detroit Sports Talk radio host, Sean Baligian. The event also includes food catered by Mike Allen '81 and James Allen '78's Hoops Sports & Spirits of Auburn Hills, beverages supplied by Labatt USA and bartenders and waitresses from local area restaurants. As always, there will be a gaming area with blackjack tables, 50/50 drawings, etc., plus opportunities to grab a square or two for the Super Bowl on Sunday, Feb. 5.

Everything is included for a general pre-paid admission price of $40, $75 ringside, if you click here and register by 11:59 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 26. There is also an introductory pre-paid price of $25 for young alumni from the classes of 2007-11 as well as a special $30 pre-paid price for current fathers. At the door, the price jumps to $50 general admission and $100 ringside for any attendees.
